

THE 2023 ROBERTSON LECTURE

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Jennifer Keesmaat

Renowned Urbanist, Expert on Building
Sustainable Cities

The Robertson Lecture is named in honour and remembrance of Dr. Bev Robertson, and made possible by the continued support from his wife Elaine and their family.

OUR CITIES WILL DEFINE OUR FUTURE

While some may argue that the issues we face in the 21st century are insurmountable – global warming, peak oil, economic collapse – Jennifer Keesmaat believes that now is the best possible moment, locally, nationally, and internationally, to engage in city building and taking ownership of our shared future.

Jennifer issues a call to action which implores cities to best address the most pressing challenges of our day: global poverty, affordable housing, quality of life, the need for innovation, the economy, traffic congestion, and climate change.

OCTOBER 19, 2023

12:00 - 1:30 PM (CST)

The 2023 Robertson Lecture will be delivered via Zoom. Those interested in attending this free, online lecture must register in advance.

For more information, please contact jsgs.events@uregina.ca

Register online at:

WWW.SCHOOLOFPUBLICPOLICY.SK.CA

J O H N S O N
S H O Y A M A