How to engage effectively with Métis communities and governments

Engaging effectively with Métis communities and governments is crucial for fostering inclusive and respectful policies and partnerships. Drawing from historical context and contemporary challenges, our panel of experts will explore frameworks for understanding Métis autonomy and leadership, emphasizing the importance of nuanced engagement and informed dialogue. This discussion will guide attendees on building equitable partnerships and defining what meaningful collaboration looks like. Join us to learn about building trust, recognizing diverse perspectives, and navigating through Métis governance for mutually beneficial outcomes.

Moderated by Dr. Kurt Boyer (he/him), JSGS Research Chair in Métis Governance, this event will feature commentary from:

- Dorothy Myo (she/her), Deputy Chief, Self-Government, MN-S Inter-Nation Relations Office
- Dr. Daniel Voth (he/him), Associate Professor, Department of Political Science, University of Calgary

Creating a diverse, inclusive and equitable public sector—where all employees feel represented, respected, and supported—is necessary to support the needs of Canada’s changing demographics. This EDI Discussion Series explores how governments can actively work to support marginalized communities and break down system barriers.
