

Living Traditions:

Intangible Cultural Heritage & Engagement with Local Communities

Intangible Cultural Heritage (ICH) includes our community's living cultural traditions, those ways of speaking, doing things, and understanding of our local environment that shape who we are and how we view ourselves in the world.

2-Day WORKSHOPS

Co-facilitated by Dale Jarvis and Kristin Catherwood, this workshop will provide you with tools to help you discover and celebrate your community's unique stories and practices.

- September 19 & 20 - Indian Head
- September 22 & 23 - Swift Current
- September 26 & 27 - Wanuskewin, Saskatoon

Workshops will be held from 9:30am – 4:30pm each day. Registration is required:

- Fee: $50/person
- To register: saskmuseums.org/programs

LECTURES

In this special lecture, Dale Jarvis will give examples of why folklore and ICH is at the heart of local life; explain how safeguarding intangibles can contribute to more vibrant and engaged communities; and demonstrate the links between intangible heritage and community development. FREE. Open to the public.

Monday, September 26 - 7:00 pm SASKATOON

- Arts 214, University of Saskatchewan

Wednesday, September 28 - 7:00 pm REGINA

- Creative City Centre, 1843 Hamilton St.

Dale Jarvis is the ICH Development Officer for Newfoundland and Labrador, the first provincially-funded folklorist position in Canada. A tireless promoter of local culture, he works with tradition bearers, towns, heritage associations, museums, and archives to safeguard intangible cultural heritage and diverse traditions.

Kristin Catherwood

Kristin Catherwood is the ICH Development Officer for Heritage Saskatchewan a folklorist, storyteller and historian. Born and raised on a century family farm near Ceylon, Saskatchewan Kristin has an MA in Folklore from Memorial University of Newfoundland and is a long-time volunteer in her local community. She has a special interest in rural community sustainability and prairie folklore.