

CONNECT VIRTUALLY AND EXPLORE OUR

ONLINE MASTER OF PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION PROGRAM

Are you looking to advance your public sector career? Or, are you interested in changing career paths altogether?

Our online Master of Public Administration (MPA) program is for mid-career professionals like you, who are interested in both academic theory and a real-world understanding of the practical realities of policymaking and public administration. Learn from faculty members and former senior public servants, and graduate with the professional, analytical, technical, team-building, and intercultural skills required to lead in the public sector.

Join Dr. Martin Boucher, online MPA program lead and faculty lecturer, Johnson Shoyama Graduate School of Public Policy's University of Saskatchewan (USask) campus, and Emmy Neuls, JSGS USask Manager of Graduate Programs (Distance Delivery), to learn about our Online MPA program and how it can help set you on a path for success!

DID YOU KNOW: Flexibility is core to each module and course in the JSGS online MPA program. As a student, you will have conveniently organized learning material with pre-recorded videos, readings, and instructions ready for when the time is right for you. You will also be part of an active community of like-minded professionals from across Canada. Group-based interactive assignments, discussion boards, and simulations will allow you to engage with your cohort in a dynamic environment!

PROGRAM INFORMATION SESSION (USASK CAMPUS)

Friday, October 22

11:00 a.m. - 12:00 p.m. (CST)

Delivered by Zoom. |  Click here to register!

For questions regarding this event, please contact jsgs.events@uregina.ca.

