

With campuses at the University of Regina and the University of Saskatchewan, the Johnson Shoyama Graduate School of Public Policy (JSGS) is a professional policy school that delivers innovative graduate and executive programs for current and future practitioners and researchers.

J O H N S O N
S H O Y A M A

GRADUATE SCHOOL OF PUBLIC POLICY

U R E G I N A ▼ U S A S K

CONNECT VIRTUALLY AND EXPLORE OUR GRADUATE
PROGRAMS IN PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION

Are you interested in a fulfilling career that delivers impact?

Public sector employers include governments, non-profits, and co-operatives. These organizations create the conditions for individuals, businesses, and other organizations to thrive. Public sector professionals investigate problems and options, they design and implement solutions, and they administer programs tailored to different target groups or issues. The work of public sector professionals is diverse and so are the exciting career opportunities.

Join us virtually to learn about our graduate programs in public administration and how they can help set you on a path for success!

PROGRAM INFORMATION SESSION

(JSGS University of Saskatchewan campus)

Tuesday, November 16

11:00 a.m. - 12:00 p.m. (CST) | Delivered by Zoom.

Alastair MacFadden
Interim Director, JSGS USask campus
& former SK Deputy Minister of Immigration and Career Training

Amy Hassett
Manager of Onsite Graduate
Programs, JSGS USask campus

 Click here to register!

PROGRAM INFORMATION SESSION

(JSGS University of Regina campus)

Tuesday, November 16

4:00 p.m. - 5:00 p.m. (CST) | Delivered by Zoom.

Dr. Jim Farney
Director, JSGS U of R campus

Heidi Eger
Academic Advisor, JSGS U of R
campus

 Click here to register!

For questions regarding these events,
contact jsgs.events@uregina.ca.

WWW.SCHOOLPUBLICPOLICY.SK.CA